Be of Good Cheer: It is I

"But straightway Jesus spake unto them, saying, Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid" (Matthew 14:27).

Jesus had strongly urged His disciples to enter into a boat and go to the other side of the lake (v. 22f.). Night fell while Jesus prayed alone on a mountain. The disciples were now in the middle of the Sea of Galilee and the time was between three and six in the morning. They had been rowing all night against the wind.

Finally, Jesus came to them, walking upon the sea (v. 25), miraculously manifesting His power over natural law. Jesus knew their fright. They were afraid because they thought they were seeing a ghost (Luke 24:37), and cried out in fear. Immediately Jesus felt compassion on them and spoke these words, "Be of Good Cheer; it is I; be not afraid." The presence of Jesus surely brought them peace of mind in the midst of a scary night.

Peter's limited faith in Jesus manifested because he said, "Lord, if it be thou, bid me come unto thee up on the waters" (v. 28). The Lord said, "Come." So Peter stepped over the side of the boat and started walking towards Jesus on the water. But when he took his eyes off Jesus, he immediately began to sink. "Lord save me," Peter cried out. Jesus stretched out His hand bringing him into the safety of the boat. Peter came close enough for Jesus to reach out and save him.

In the midst of stormy trials and sufferings all men should turn their eyes and reach out for the stretched hand of Jesus. It is for lack of faith that Peter failed to continue walking on the water. And thus he deserved the rebuke, "O ye of little faith." Nevertheless, man's inability to cope with the turmoil of the environment allows God the opportunity to stretch out His helping hand. When Peter turned his eyes to Jesus in his distress, he found help. --Nehemiah Gootam (Kakinada, India)

Worship service will be live streamed live every Sunday morning at 10:30 on <https://www.facebook.com/Columbianachurchofchrist/> and on the website www.columbianachurchofchrist.org.
